Accident claims two lives

A man and his infant child were killed, and two others injured, in a single-vehicle accident Saturday near Belmont.

Texas Department of Public Safety reports indicate that Stanley Goins, 34, and his 1-year-old daughter were killed when a truck he was driving spun out of control on 90A westbound near Belmont, crashing into a tree.

Goin's fiancée Rita Juarez, 28, and a 3-year-old child were also injured in the crash.

Corporal Ron Holub of Texas Department of Public Safety said that around 5 p.m. Saturday, the 2007 Ford F-250 was headed westbound on Highway 90A in inclement weather at a speed unsafe for the rainy conditions when it spun out of control and skidded sideways off the road into the north bar ditch.

The vehicle then struck a large oak tree with its passenger door, ejecting the driver. The vehicle then spun around and struck the tree again with its left rear quarter, coming to rest on its wheels, facing west.

The impact killed the second seat passenger, a 12-month-old in a car safety seat, Holub said.

The mother was taken to Brackenridge Hospital in Austin, and the 3-year-old was taken to Dell Children's Hospital in Austin.
