Mathews named News Editor

Juliana Mathews has been named the News Editor of The Gonzales Cannon, General Manager Dave Mundy has announced.

Mathews has been a contributing columnist and correspondent for The Cannon since December.

"We're delighted to be able to bring Juliana on-board full time," Mundy said. "She brings a lively writing style and a commitment to chasing down the news that's important to the readers across our region."

As News Editor, Mathews will help paginate the paper as well as covering everything from local government to features. She will continue penning her "Texas Trippin'" column as well.

A native of California, Mathews writes a regular travel column on Yahoo! called "Strange RV Encounters", and humorous articles on life, travel, marketing, and her cat for several other websites. She enjoys traveling the country in her RV with her crazy cat, seeing all the weird, wacky and wonderful roadside attractions. Still on her Bucket List are the Cadillac Ranch, the Largest Ball of Twine, and the World's Largest Frying Pan.

She moved to Gonzales about a year and a half ago after the tornadoes in Rockport chased her inland. Shortly after her arrival, she was adopted by a crazy kitten which she named Pyewacket. Juliana is also available for adoption, preferably by someone owning an oil well or three.
